OUR MISSION

Meaningful Giving. Inspired Change.

An international nonprofit organization, ICF seeks to inspire international charitable giving by U.S. donors, with an emphasis on Northwest Mexico.
Dear ICF Donors and Friends,

Our 25th anniversary year continues to be an extraordinary one. You may have already noticed that ICF has a new logo, a new website (www.icfdn.org), and a new look. You might have attended one of a dozen ICF events this year, including 25th anniversary dinners and receptions, grantee workshops, or donor education meetings. And hopefully, you had a chance to meet some of our new staff and board members as we visited grantees in the field, represented ICF at national and international forums, or were hard at work in our National City office.

This milestone is important to all of us, and has even accelerated our progress in health, education, and the environment in Mexico, particularly in the Baja California peninsula and the Sea of Cortez region. In fact, in Fiscal Year 2015, ICF:

• Granted $7.7 million to 105 organizations working throughout Latin America.

• Celebrated the 15th anniversary of the conservation easements in Laguna San Ignacio, which collectively protect almost 340,000 acres of pristine coastal and inland areas in one of the most important whale birthing lagoons in Mexico.

• Signed a binational memorandum of agreement with government agencies and nonprofit partners in Southern California and Baja California to continue combatting multi-drug resistant tuberculosis in the border region.

• Prioritized scholarships and after-school activities in ICF’s education program, supporting over 25 organizations in Mexico alone.

As always, we are grateful for your confidence in our team and your steadfast support of the International Community Foundation. It is thanks to your generosity that our work is possible.

Sincerely,

Alejandra Mier y Terán
Board Chair

Anne McEnany
President & CEO
The San Diego Community Foundation Board votes to set up a separate organization for international grantmaking.

The Pacific American Foundation (PAF) is incorporated to fund projects in Latin America and the Pacific Rim.

The Honorable Lucy Killea joins the foundation as first President & CEO.

The Pacific American Foundation (PAF) changes its name to the International Community Foundation (ICF).

ICF grows to 36 funds and $1 million in assets.

“Having lived in Mexico for ten years, I really wanted to grow the connection between the U.S. and Mexico. ICF seemed like the perfect opportunity to do that.”

- Lucy Killea, ICF President 1996-2001

“I am most proud of the positive social impact that ICF has had in communities and nonprofits along the Baja California peninsula, because of the Foundation’s grantmaking in that region.”

- Richard Kiy, ICF President 2001-2014

“The ICF team is building on a strong foundation of program impacts, sound financial management, and a donor base that is passionate about solving social and environmental challenges in Mexico.”

- Anne McEnany, ICF President & CEO

In FY2015, ICF assets grew to over $21 Million across 180 funds

To date, ICF has made over 1800 grants to nonprofit organizations totaling over $61 Million

ICF celebrates its 25th Anniversary and launches a new logo and brand.
Over the past 25 years, ICF has supported partner organizations and special initiatives that align with our goal to increase access to high quality health services in Mexico, especially in the border region and throughout the Baja California peninsula.

One of ICF’s key health partners is Amigos de los Niños (ADLN), a volunteer-driven nonprofit organization dedicated to providing quality healthcare to the children of Los Cabos, Mexico. ADLN’s “Friends Of” Fund at ICF supports free clinics and specialized medical services for children suffering from severe illnesses every year.

When Hurricane Odile struck in September 2014, ICF reached out to our health partners in the region to assess damage, offer support for their recovery, and address the most critical health needs in the community. ADLN was one of several organizations that received support from ICF’s Disaster Relief Fund, to cover the costs of providing basic supplies to people in rural areas devastated by the storm, repair damage to the ADLN building, and invest in window coverings as a preventative measure for future storms.

In 2015, recognizing ICF’s capacity to serve as a trusted fiscal agent and champion of their cause, ADLN launched a campaign to construct and equip their own clinic space, and successfully raised over $100,000. Construction on the newly expanded clinic is now complete, and ADLN began to offer health services in the new space in November 2015. It is projected that the new building will enable the organization to double the number of free clinical services provided each year.
ICF and our education partners focus on keeping kids in school, increasing access to quality education, and developing 21st century skills that will help students find meaningful employment after graduation.

One organization that has embraced this holistic approach is Advancing Students Forward (ASF) in El Tecolote, Tijuana. Over the past 25 years of programming, ASF has proven that keeping students in school through high school graduation is not only an academic objective, but also has important secondary benefits, such as keeping students safe from gangs and drugs in at-risk communities.

In addition to tuition support, ASF and the Centro de Comunidad A.C. have worked with El Tecolote students outside the classroom to develop life skills including critical thinking and problem solving, collaboration, adaptability, and leadership. Today, ASF is serving 70 students in Tijuana, 18 of whom are university students who serve as mentors to new ASF participants.

Since 2005, ICF has supported ASF in identifying, demonstrating, and pursuing this comprehensive approach to education through scholarship grants, technical assistance to test new program ideas, and as a financial home for ASF’s endowment fund.

In 2015, ASF’s endowment fund received a $163,000 bequest from a long-time donor who passed away. ICF will manage those funds in perpetuity to ensure a lasting future for ASF’s programs and the students it serves.
ICF works to protect the natural beauty and ecological integrity of critical sites in Mexico and Latin America through collaborative initiatives, such as the Laguna San Ignacio Conservation Alliance.

2015 marked the 15th Anniversary of this unprecedented coalition of local residents, conservation groups, and funders who came together to protect Laguna San Ignacio, on the Pacific coast of Baja California Sur, Mexico. Located on a 250-mile coastal wetland complex including mangrove forests, estuaries, and intertidal flats, this wild and pristine place has been declared a UNESCO World Heritage Site, a Biosphere Reserve, a migratory bird sanctuary, and one of the last places left on Earth where gray whales can give birth and raise their young in peace.

Over the past 15 years, the Alliance has successfully secured the protection of almost 340,000 acres and some 150 miles of coastline, virtually eliminating the threat of any industrial or large-scale commercial activity.

For its part, ICF holds over $1 million in a stewardship fund that monitors and manages these protected lands; ICF also provides regular grants to the local community for economic and environmental projects that benefit the entire region.

Olivewood Gardens and Learning Center is working to improve community health outcomes and environmental stewardship through garden-based nutrition education. Olivewood’s hands-on cooking and gardening programs encourage children, adults, and families to make healthy choices and protect our environment. Since 2010, Olivewood has hosted over 46,000 visits from community members, provided over 600 classroom field trips; and trained over 1,000 adults in home, community, or school gardening, and kitchen education.

Last year, the Children’s Field Trip Program served 1,730 students and 563 adults. Two neighboring schools took part in an intensive program, in which 3rd, 4th, and 5th graders visited the Gardens three times, seeding in one season and harvesting in the next. They prepared nutritious recipes and tried new vegetables.

Olivewood’s Family Programs engaged an additional 992 children and 980 adults, who learned to grow food and prepare healthy recipes. Through its Adult Education programs, Olivewood engaged 191 adults in classes and events and 358 adults as volunteers and interns. Olivewood graduated its 100th Kitchenista from the Cooking for SaludTM parent education program and premiered “The Kitchenistas of National City” documentary. (See: TheKitchenistasmovie.org).

Olivewood is having a big impact. Kids are eating more fruits and vegetables, families are embracing healthy cooking and eating, and together, they are building a healthier community. One teacher commented, “The experience of growing food and cooking it, and learning about how nature works, is invaluable. Students are eager to try food and take risks. They are eager to share with their families and want to eat healthy.” In recognition of this impact, Olivewood was named a Live Well San Diego Partner in 2014 and awarded the 2015 Public Health Champion Award by the County.
