ICF’s Impact:

To our respected ICF Colleagues, Grantees, Donors and Friends:

As you know, Mexican society continues to experience violence and corruption, while also adapting to the political transformation currently underway. All of this puts tremendous pressure on civil society organizations to successfully address Mexico’s social, environmental, and health-related needs.

With this in mind, the International Community Foundation (ICF) and its donors have consistently responded.

We are proud to report that in FY2018, ICF granted over $10.81 million to 270 organizations in Latin America and the Caribbean. This record grant total reflects our collective impact on the daily lives of neighbors, friends, family, and communities in the urban centers, growing towns, and rural areas of Mexico. We are proud of our partners and grantees that face these challenges every day.

In this Giving Guide, ICF features committed organizations and programs that provide quality education and health care to populations in need; promote and preserve the culture and heritage of the country; and secure Mexico’s unique marine and terrestrial areas.

We invite you to join us on a site visit, a workshop, or outreach event to learn more about these organizations.

Please help create meaningful change in your community today by visiting our website or searching for these groups at donate.icfdn.org!
